LIKE DEMONS.

A Wild Fight for Life in a Burning Building.

Three Killed and Many More or Less Injured.

ANOTHER SERMON ON THE OVERTRODING OF WORKSHOPS.

Fire in a Six-Story Sweater-Shop Building in New York This Morning—Occupied by 250 Men, Women and Children—Many Trodden Upon and Others Fell from the Crowded Fire-Escapes—Casualties.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The six-story building filled with sweater shops at 10 and 12 Montgomery street caught fire at 1:30 o'clock this morning and in the wild rush to the streets of the 200 persons working there three were killed and several injured. The firemen are still securing the different floors of the burned building and it is probable that their search will result in adding to the death list. This morning after the fire had been overcome it was impossible to identify any one of the three bodies that lay horribly mangled in the street. The dead are:

Unknown man, 50 years old.

Unknown man, 40 years old.

The injured, as far as can be learned, are: Gussie Angustorsky, 20 years old, of 54 Suffolk street. She jumped from the second-story fire escape. Her legs are fractured.

Unknown man; he scalded himself and so dares that he does not know his name, where he lives or what happened him. They were sent to Gouverneur Hospital.

Besides these many people suffered slight injury in scrambling and falling down the fire-escapes. The blaze started on the first floor in the Schlesinger people's work shop. The inmates, men, women and children of all ages. It is supposed that the fire started from the stove for heating irons. The stove was near the stairway, and in a few seconds the flames shot up as far as the third and fourth floors. Then the panic followed. The inmates, who were Polish Hebrews and excitable under any circumstances, were maddened. There was no escape from the rear of the building. No fire-escapes were there, and if they were there was no way to take advantage of them, for the iron shutters spiked in all the windows on the rear side. The 200 people rushed to the fire-escape in front and fought there like demons.

The whole front of the building was alive with men and women. All were fighting for places in the fire-escape. The women attempted to move to the rear of the man, for the latter fought furiously. One would make an attempt to go down through the manhole in the fire escape and a dozen would pull him back. The ladder had not yet been lowered from the first floor escape to the pavement and thirty people were huddled together there. Some girls here lowered themselves through the manhole by their hands and dropped to the street without sustaining any great injury. That was the situation when the first policemen arrived on the scene. The officer tells what then happened:

"Just as I ran in front of the building the flames burst like a rocket from the second and third floors and leaped out nearly across the street. The excitement that had existed was outdone a hundred times by the panic which followed. There was no longer any fighting on the fire-escapes. The people dashed through the manholes in the fire-escapes like rats running from danger. They fell on each other's heads as they came down and were piled like dead. The ladder from the first fire-escape was not yet lowered. The little balcony over-flowed, and then men and women jumped to the pavement. The first jump was a large woman. She lighted on the iron railing in front of the building and rolled over at once. The next jump was a man, and the street and his head struck the pavement. His skull was crushed and he never moved. A second man followed him in an instant. He too, struck his head, but did not die immediately. A young girl made the fourth to leap out on the other side. Finally old Hyndman, the police and two will probably be buried suddenly from the windows. The law attempted to grade the aggregate of fees according to the necessities of the court holds that this graduation is defective.

A hook and ladder truck had arrived by this time and the scaling ladders were erected on the fire-escapes and the people who still stood there were taken down. Some scrambled across from the first balcony to a little ledge on the next building and lowered themselves that way. One of the men who had just come down from the first balcony had just died three minutes later. Four ambulances were summoned. Gussie Angustorsky was taken to a drug store and had her wounds dressed. She and a man who had become stark mad were sent to the hospital in one ambulance. The other seven were treated at the firehouse and two will probably be buried suddenly from the windows. Her clothes caught fire. Wrapped in fire she fell to the first fire escape and then the second. Her clothes were completely burned off.

For half a hour the blaze defied the efforts of the firemen. Two streams were played on the building from the ground and were packed with people. Police reserves were called out and had hard work keeping the mob in check. The howling of the people around the burning building and those who worked in the building and their cries were taken up by their friends until the whole neighborhood was aroused. The fire had been fairly placed under control when Bonner directed the men to search the building for bodies. Many who were on the second floor when they were packed in the flames and woman down to the first floor. At 11 o'clock the revised list of dead and injured was as follows: Mrs. Davis, 18 years old, of 22 Suffolk street; unknown man, about 30 years old; unknown man, about 25 years old.

In addition to these, Mr. and Mrs. Russel, tailors; Alice Naleton, 15 years, his daughter, both badly burned and will probably die; Mrs. Morris R. King, 45 years, his wife, a widow, 15 years, his son, Gussie Angustorsky, aged 18, leg broken and contusions; Morris Hegman, aged 25, scalp wound.

STREET CAR WRECK.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 13.—When beginning the descent from the north end of Sangamon street viaduct at Kinzie street last night, it was discovered by the driver of car No. 96 of the Ashland avenue line that the brake was broken. The car got beyond the driver's control, the horses became frightened and ran down the steep grade at great speed and the car was dashed to pieces. The car went until it hit a post on the sidewalk. Five persons were injured, one of whom, it is thought, fatally. The injured are:

PENDER, MARY, skull fractured, may die.

HENDERSON, Lizzie, back and left side cut and bruised.

GERSHENOW, MORITZ, scalp wounds and cuts on face.

BRAND, EMIL, left leg lacerated and sprained.

CORNETT, DEPUTY CORONER, arms contused.

FIGHT WITH A HORSETHIEF.

A Captured Negro Mortally Wounded and an Officer Shot.

GALLATIN, Tenn., June 13.—A desperate encounter between others and a negro horse thief occurred late yesterday evening near the Rock House in the Eleventh Civil District of this county, which will likely terminate in the death of two men.

Sheriff Andrew McLaughlin had papers to arrest Andrew Ferguson, a dangerous and desperate ne'er-do-well, charged with robbing a negro. Sheriff McLaughlin deputized a young man by the name of Meadows to assist in the arrest. They found their man armed with a pistol and a revolver.

It was twenty years ago that Chris Evans was captured by the police in the Nigger Creek country. His industry had given him a better footing than other farm hands, and directly he became almost an elder brother to the numerous sons and daughters on the ranch.

Quite naturally, when pretty Mary Byrd, a widow, took up her abode in the same house, Chris made himself still nearer to the family—he married Mary Byrd. She was only 15 then, but she was a woman at that age, and she was a good wife to Chris Evans and he was a good husband to her.

It was during his wood-chopping days that he met the notorious horse thief, El Perkins, in the mountains of the Pacific Northwest.

El Perkins had several an ardent follower.

The negro attempted to break into the house of the Evans' and was shot and driven away.

THE DEATH BLOWS.

Dr. Dolan Describes the Work of the Borden Assassin.

WITH EYES TIGHTLY CLOSED LIZZIE LISTENED TO THE WITNESS.

A Mass of Contradictory Evidence Which the Jury Must Unravel—Broad Blasts of a Police Conspiracy to Convict the Defendant—New Bedford Women Believe Her Guilty.

New Bedford, Mass., June 12.—When the great trial opened this morning Lizzie Borden seemed to have recovered from the attack of faintness which seized her yesterday. She occupied her usual place and looked better than she did on any other day of the trial. The court-room was packed long before the brass buttoned crier made his never changing call for the opening, upon the entry of the judges, closing with "God save the commonwealth of Massachusetts."

Dr. Dolan was the first witness examined to-day. He was on the stand when court adjourned last evening, and had examined the cast of Mr. Borden's head and explained how the wounds were located. The doctor took one of the hatchets, and with it struck against the cast, illustrating how the hatchet had struck the old man's skull. In answer to a question Dr. Dolan said that the wounds might have been inflicted with a hatchet in the hands of a woman of ordinary strength.

The witness was cross-examined to-day by Lawyer Adams of the defense. He described the position of the bodies and the blood spots, and said the blows came from left to right and were of moderate force.

While Dr. Dolan was making his illustrations of how the assassin must have dealt with the death wounds, Miss Borden sat with eyes tightly closed and used her fan as to shield the vision from her face.

Dr. Dolan explained that the blows were made by a sharp instrument and those on Mrs. Borden by an assailant astride the horse.

At this point a juror was taken sick and recess was taken. The prisoner was affected by the gruesome exhibits and details and was led from the room.

The session being resumed Dr. Dolan admitted testifying in the preliminary hearing that Mrs. Borden's death was an hour to an hour and a half before that of Mr. Borden.

ONE OF THE MANY THEORIES.

In support of Dr. Dolan's statement that the blows which killed Mrs. Borden were delivered by her assailant while astride the body, it is called to mind that one of the theories advanced by a detective who has closely followed the case, advances on these lines: When Mrs. Borden went to the room that had been occupied by their guest the night before in order to make the bed and otherwise put it in order Lizzie followed and proceeded to her own apartment, where she had already the axe selected for the deed. Realizing her mistake she removed her coat quickly, even to her shoes and stockings, for Mr. Wood examined these latter with the same care as he did the dress, seeing in vain for blood stains. Thus prepared she stepped noiselessly into the girl's room and struck Mrs. Borden twice, laid with the axe, driving her to the ground.

But the weapon again and again in the resisting body that lay before her. During this time she stood with a foot on either side of the body. She then ran quickly, even to her shoes and stockings, for Mr. Wood examined these latter with the same care as he did the dress, seeing in vain for blood stains. Thus prepared she stepped noiselessly into the girl's room and struck Mrs. Borden twice, laid with the axe, driving her to the ground.

The Mayor of Moberly Explains.

The Hon. James W. Haggard, Mayor of Moberly, Mo., has written an open letter to the Hon. Cyrus P. Walbridge, Mayor of St. Louis, in which he protests against the injustice done him by certain publications which appeared in the St. Louis papers, and in which he intimates were instigated by Mayor Walbridge and his son, Fred.

Some weeks ten days ago a woman, giving the name of Howells, applied at Mayor Walbridge's office and asked for transportation to St. Louis. The Mayor, however, stated that the Mayor of Moberly, where she formerly lived, had given her free transportation to St. Louis.

The Mayor's papers commented on the fact that the Mayor of Moberly was dumping his paupers in St. Louis.

Mr. Walbridge arranged transportation for Miss Howells from the Mulberry Inn and the Mayor provided her with some money.

The Mayor of Moberly now claims his open letter was not instigated by the Mayor of St. Louis, and engaged Doyle to drive him to the Hotel Moser on Pine, near Ninth street, and Doyle charged him $1.50. When he got to the hotel, however, his attorney had it continued. To-day when the case was called a jury was called for. The judge remanded the case and the case had been set for a court. Arnold then wanted to get a warrant against Murer, but that was also refused.

When he got to the Second District Police Court this morning Arnold was told that the case had been dismissed on payment of costs. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Estep told Arnold that he could not be released without a warrant, as the case had been delayed in a court. Arnold then wanted to get a warrant against Murer, but that was also refused.

Dismissed at Costs.

H. C. Arnold, a saloon-keeper on Twentieth near Salisbury street, called at the Prosecuting Attorney's office to demand a warrant charging him with burglary.

Arnold stated that he had been assaulted by a woman who had broken into his house and he had given her free transportation to St. Louis.

The Mayor's papers commented on the fact that the Mayor of Moberly was dumping his paupers in St. Louis.

Accepting this solution of the mystery, the fact why the murderer had not been identified was explained, also Bridget Sullivan's puzzling evidence that Lizzie wore the same dress immediately after the murders which she wore immediately before they had been discovered.

CONTRADICTIONS OF THE TRIAL.

When the trial closed its first day of the second week last evening, the prospects of the prosecution convicting Lizzie Borden of the murder of her parents less than at any time since the trial began. The exclusion of the prisoner's testimony taken at the inquest placed the defense on very dangerous ground.

Then there were the fatal contradictions about the handle of the hatchet-head with which she was shown to have struck the victim.

Apparently the sole use to which the counsel for the State then far saw fit to put this was to knock their own witnesses on the head with it and to hew away some of the main supports of the gallows they are trying to erect in the Borden trial.

Lizzie Borden, just what is the word to apply to the distinct and flat-footed contradictions that have been uttered in connection with this new historical implement is largely a matter of taste and charity. One thing, however, it seems quite safe to assume, is that in the minds of those present at the Borden trial a little hatchet will never more be solely sublimation of the father of the accused in his life.

It also occurs to them the full River police force and some of the most extraordinary swearing ever heard on a witness stand.

IS THERE A CONSPIRACY.

People who have believed that the case against Miss Borden is a case very largely made by the police to conceal their own utter inability to grapple with the mystery of the Borden murders will be compelled in the opinion of the counsel for the defense, in their plea for the prisoner, make use of the damaging contradictions in the testimony of police officers who have been most active in the collection of the so-called evidence against Lizzie Borden.

They are to be sure, also to argue that the hatchet which now brought forward as the weapon which the murders were done was pitched upon the floor after the two which they had at first pinned their faith were discarded.

The defense will ask the Judge to consider if it is at all possible for Lizzie to have left the weapon she did it lying there all that time when she had abundant opportunity to put it out of the way. The policeman who did as he was told and was not supposed to know all his superior officer's plans. He swore there was no hatchet, and when the chief witness on the force, and knew just what theories the police were chancing up. He swore there were no handles, a short handle, a long handle, with the handle to have a handle round, for then had the cylindrical something which the eagle nice news of Harrison saw.

There would be no way of establishing an around sense that the handle had been bloody when Lizzie Borden had pinned it.

The defense's lawyers are probably on the world over; they do not sit in this strange murder

THEY ARE DOOMED.

More Consternation Among City Hall Office-Holders.

A great amount of uneasiness is just now being manifested in the Street Department among the sprinkling inspectors. The tip has gone out that they as well as the force under Supt. Duffy will also be discharged about July 1.

The discharging of Duffy's force under the contract made between the Mayor and Street Commissioners Murphy was thought to be hard enough, but if it becomes a settled fact that Superintendent of Sprinkling Paddy Fitzgibbon, and his inspectors are to go, the howl that will go up will be much greater than anything yet heard around the hall.

The inspectors appointed are apportioned on the basis of men and hours worked, and positions for ten months. Each is required to furnish a horse and buggy, for which the city allows $2 a month maintenance. The majority of the inspectors appointed were men who had been giving the service for the necessary cash to buy a horse and buggy was hard to get. In most cases the inspectors have bought their rigs themselves.

When he got to the Second District Police Court this morning Arnold was told that the case had been dismissed on payment of costs. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Estep told Arnold that he could not be released without a warrant, as the case had been continued, and the case had been set for a court. Mr. Walbridge arranged transportation for Miss Howells from the Mulberry Inn and the Mayor provided her with some money.

The Mayor of Moberly now claims his open letter was not instigated by the Mayor of St. Louis, and engaged Doyle to drive him to the Hotel Moser on Pine, near Ninth street, and Doyle charged him $1.50. When he got to the hotel, however, his attorney had it continued. To-day when the case was called a jury was called for. The judge remanded the case and the case had been set for a court. Arnold then wanted to get a warrant against Murer, but that was also refused.

Dismissed at Costs.

H. C. Arnold, a saloon-keeper on Twentieth near Salisbury street, called at the Prosecuting Attorney's office to demand a warrant charging him with burglary.

Arnold stated that he had been assaulted by a woman who had broken into his house and he had given her free transportation to St. Louis.

The Mayor's papers commented on the fact that the Mayor of Moberly was dumping his paupers in St. Louis.

WOMAN'S REASON.

The Gave to the Children's Fund to Enjoy Her Own Outing.

LUXURY WOULD BE TORTURE IF SHE DID NOTHING FOR THE POOR.

Rabbi Spitz Endorses the Enterprise of the Post-Dispatch and Rev. Wm. Elmer Sends a Contribution From His Sunday-School — Mrs. Gust. Hoobler Adds Another Dollar to the Fund.

A lady added a sum to the fund for the children's summer camp in Pella Valley and asked that her contribution be credited to "cash."

"I am going away to-night for the summer," she said, "but I could not enjoy my outing if I had not done something for the relief of the poor little children. Every moment of the time I would be haunted by those pinched-faced, gasping babies in the corridors of the tenements and the watching, worn-out mothers."

A contributor who sent the price of two theater tickets which he could not afford last winter struck the same key, asking how those whose surroundings are comfortable can enjoy extraordinary privileges, knowing that children are dying because they are barred from access to fresh air.

The fund which makes the summer relief camp possible is growing gloriously. Before the end of the week there will be $2,000 in hand and a fair start will have been made on the third thousand.

Rabbi Morris Spitz, of B'nai El congregation and editor of the Jewish Voice, says editorially in his paper this week:

"With all our heart do we second the Post-Dispatch movement to raise funds to be used for the heated summer months in sending poor mothers with their babies to Pella Valley. It is a charitable movement in which all citizens should be interested. Those who have seen the poor people crowded together in the tenement districts of St. Louis, and the sickly mothers with their still sicklier babies, gasping for breath, their lives ebbing away in the close disease-breeding atmosphere surrounding them, will readily appreciate the good work of the enterprising Post-Dispatch and aid our contemporaries with the best means at their command."

In the baking days of July and August—of which this sultry heat is but a hint—hundreds of children will be happy with returning health in the cool woods of the Pella, because of the goodness of the people of St. Louis. Funerals will not be so frequent in the tenements and mothers whose children are fading will not despair because they can have no hope of their recovery.

TO AID THE FUND.

Under the patronage of a large number of ladies prominent in St. Louis society and under the management of Mrs. Kate G. Broadus and Mrs. H. D. Pittman, a musicalale will be given in the banqueting rooms of Hotel Beers for the benefit of the fund. The date fixed upon is Monday evening, June 15.

The programme will include vocal and instrumental numbers by leading professionals and amateurs who give their services to insure the success of the enterprise. Mrs. Broadus' musicalale at the end of each season have always been for the entertainment of invited friends, and this will be the first opportunity the public has had to hear a concert under her direction. The banqueting-room of Hotel Beers is admirably adapted to an elegant affair of this kind. The entire gross proceeds will go into the Children's Summer Camp Fund.

THE NOTED MEN IN IT.

No class of citizens appreciate more a day in the country, a few hours outing in the rural districts, than the proprietors of the larger St. Louis hotels. Realizing that the Post-DISPATCH is doing a great work in raising money to defray the expenses of summer outings for those poor women and children who are unable to leave the city, they have generously contributed to the fund. Howe & Chassaign, proprietors of the Lindell, in sending in $10, wished the project abundant success, believing it to be a benevolent cause worthy the consideration of every citizen of St. Louis.

Manager Lewis of the Southern subscribes $10. "I am only too willing to subscribe to the fund," said he. "Save the women and children seems to be the watchword of the Post-DISPATCH. Success to it."

Proprietor Griswold of the Laclede, a gentleman who appreciates a day's outing in the country, was only too glad to subscribe $10. "I would not mind spending a day in the country this summer for twice the amount. If the men can enjoy this luxury, give the poor women and children an opportunity of a sensation, but there was not a dissenting voice."

M'GEE PROMOTED.

New York, June 18.—John M'Gee, correspondent of the Catholic News cabled yesterday that the Most. Rev. Agostino Casar, Titular Archbishop of Larissa, Pro-Secretary of the Sacred Congregation of Propaganda, has been promoted to be Secretary of the Congregation of Bishops and Regulars, vice Archbishop Granielli, who is to be made a Cardinal. Fausto Bergamaschi has been made Secretary of Propaganda for the affairs of Canada and the United States and promoted to Bishop of Perugia.

ANOTHER BRIGGSITE.

Chicago, Ill., June 18.—At a meeting of the Chicago Presbytery, Rev. T. C. Hall practically challenged in heresy trial. He stated that he did not believe that Moses wrote the Pentateuch nor that Jesus wrote the two books of the New Testament. Hall denied his remarks by saying that the Presbytery had taken a position narrower than any other church in the world. The remarks caused a division of a sensation, but there was not a dissenting voice.

M'GLYNN IN LONDON.

New York, June 18.—Michael Walsh of the Catholic Herald says there is not the slightest foundation for the rumor that Dr. Edward McIlroy has not started for Rome, and had it suited his pleasure, Dr. McIlroy would have desired to go to Rome quietly, and therefore it was given out that he was going to the U.S. and would go to Chicago, chance to Montreal, and sail on to Paris, France or Europe. He is now a guest of Cardinal Vaughan, Archbishop of Westminster, London, since his arrival from Ireland.

Thomas P. Miller, proprietor of the St. James', sends in $5 and was loud in his praise of the Post-DISPATCH's undertaking.

J. H. Hurst, proprietor of Hurst's, in subscribing $5 said: "I never let an enterprise like this go by without subscribing a small sum. The work that the Post-DISPATCH has undertaken is a grand one and is sure to bring about good results."

ETAL GROUERS.

Delegates Appointed to the National Convention—Arranging for the Plenite.

The regular monthly meeting of the St. Louis Retail Grocers' Association took place last evening at the association rooms, 307 Locust street. The association has secured the Fair Grounds for the Fourth of July for its third annual picnic, and every effort is being made to make this the largest picnic ever held in St. Louis. The two previous annual picnics of the association were held at the Fair Grounds on a Sunday, the attendance last year being estimated at over 60,000 people. Some of the principal features of the picnic will be a grand ascent in the afternoon, in which some of the members contracted to make the highest ascent ever made in St. Louis; a grand review of the association, and a distribution of prizes, in which every one attending the picnic will participate without any extra cost.

Delegates are also appointed to represent the St. Louis Retail Grocers' Association at the National Retail Grocers' Convention, to be held in New York on July 10, and it is expected that the St. Louis Association will have a creditable representation in that body. An excellent lunch had been prepared for the members and refreshments and cigars were dispensed.

100 New Industries

AMUSEMENTS TO-NIGHT.

SCHWABE'S GARDEN—"Bocceca," UHNE'S GARDEN—"Girode-Girode."

Mrs. Kate G. Broadbuss' concert, Hotel Beers, Monday evening, June 13, for the benefit of the Summer Camp Fund.

A few scattered showers occurred yesterday in the vicinity of St. Louis. Central Illinois and in Texas. In all other sections the weather was fair.

High temperatures continued in the Central Valleys with no prospects for an immediate change.

For St. Louis: Fair; followed by increasing clouds; east to south winds.

Forecast for St. Louis: General fair; nearly stationary temperature.

EX-TREASURER FOERSTEL is in the hands of his friends.

THE train robbers are ubiquitous. They were heard from last near Omaha, Neb.

In order to punish the right party the pension clerks may have to hang Congress.

THE Republican office-seekers should gently with the Mayor. He is doing the best he can.

THOUGH the Mayor is a member of the Pharmaceutical Association, the city's money is no drug.

CIRCUIT ATTORNEY ZACHRITZ doesn't seem to recognize official indecency when it is presented to him.

Cutting after the garbage collectors Dr. Homan is on a trail leading to lots of germ-breeding nuisances.

THE grocers and hotel proprietors are doing nobly for the Pines fund. They set the pace for men of other callings.

ONE good thing about raising the City Hall fund by retrenchment is the proof of unnecessary extravagance it will bring to light.

THE President is not appointing many Missourians to office, but he has just pardoned two of us who violated the interstate commerce law.

NO man who can make a good living by his own labor can accept a pension without owing wrong others who are unable to support themselves.

THE streets need every cent they can get, and every available cent should be used on them; but, of course, the new City Hall can't be left out in the rain.

DECLAMATION against the McKinley bill will not be necessary in the Ohio canvass. It is pretty well understood by the voters who have already condemned it.

THE Nicaraguans are scarcely to be blamed for getting excited when they see Uncle Sam's cannons planted on their territory. A hotchke is not exactly a sign of affection.

THE children who go for an outing at Pleasant will be looked after by a physician and cared for by volunteer matrons. This is one of the most effective charities that can be imagined.

EX-LABOR COMMISSIONER PECK is said to have fled to Europe to avoid a trial on a charge of destroying public records. Thus one of the strongest props of McKinleyism disappears at a critical time.

THE generous contributions already received for the children's summer outing are only hints of what is expected from those who have not yet subscribed. Do not lose this opportunity to help in so good a cause.

THE young Kaiser has made a people's man of Bismarck by dismissing him, he has accomplished a great deal. The greatest of statesmen see more clearly when they go out from the environment of the Government.

THE newspaper correspondent who applies choice epithets like "bummer," "maligner," "loafer" and "Guiteau" to the men who worked in the Ford Theater building is doing infinite harm to the individual whose cause he is championing so furiously.

COL. FRED GRANT is on his way home. He will be surprised to see how easily the Treasury surplus was handled, its manipulation having much more than shown his statesmanlike utterance on the subject to have been true. Perhaps Col. Fred will now venture a bit of suggestion as to the deficit.

THE city would not now be in financial difficulties if a fair share of the money made out of franchises in the past had gone into the treasury instead of into the pockets of franchise speculators and corrupt Assemblies. A reform in this matter is one of the things expected of the new Council.

local situation which cannot concern us. Besides, the tendency among the people of Europe is toward peace and a reduction of military establishment. The best guarantee of peace is a peaceful disposition, and this is undoubtedly growing. Certainly we have the good will of most nations and they will not wait for the threat of battle ships before they agree to submit to arbitration.

THE ZACHRITZ DILEMMA.

A NATIONAL system of Mississippi River improvement is not possible as long as it has to take its chances in a haphazard scramble for appropriations for other streams. Separate it from other internal improvements in the legislative scheme and it will then be possible to do effective work and make the river a useful highway crowded with commerce.

MR. ZACHRITZ says that "the securing of an indictment from a Grand-jury requires no great legal talent. Anyone can do that." Yet no indictment was ever secured against an official charged with wrong-doing while Zachritz was in charge of the Grand-juries. But, perhaps, he meant to imply that what required real talent was to keep a Grand-jury from finding an indictment.

HEADS of departments may not like to economize, but as long as the Mayor treats it as a question not debatable they will have to submit. He seems to think that the efficiency of the service will not be impaired by smaller appropriations and in this most citizens who know anything about municipal affairs will agree with him. The water fund is safe and water rates should come down.

EX-CIRCUIT ATTORNEY CLOVER is doubtless delighted to have Circuit Attorney Zachritz prosecute the cases against his client, Foerstel. Mr. Zachritz has expressed his eager desire to see the ex-Treasurer exonerated, and during his four years' association with the present Circuit Attorney Mr. Clover had ample demonstration of his ability as an "exonerator" of accused officials with strong pulls.

A CONCERT for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Summer Home for poor families will be given in the banquet hall of Beers' Hotel next Monday evening. Under the able direction of Mrs. Kate Broadbuss a programme of rare excellence, to which the leading musicians of local society have promised to contribute, will be presented. The social and musical importance of this event should give handsome returns to the noble charity to which the receipts will be devoted.

DEATH IN THE WIRES.

The death of Lineman Love while repairing an electric light wire during yesterday's storm appears to have been a preventable accident. According to the statement made by his fellow workmen the insulation was defective and had been in bad condition for some time, but no steps had been taken to repair it.

The work of Lineman Love is necessarily dangerous and loss of life is to be expected.

When a man undertakes such service he does so with full knowledge of incident perils and the employer is freed from blame for all accidents which arise out of the nature of the business. But in this case, according to the charges made, the disaster was due to the electric company's neglect to provide the safeguards required by the law. An already dangerous employment was made more dangerous by the cruel indifference of those whose duty it was to make every effort and adopt every expedient calculated to protect their workmen.

NOTWITHSTANDING Major Walbridge's knowledge of pharmacy, the new City Hall was near to being "overtaken" by the bitter pill of adversity.

It looks as if the General Assembly will have to discipline the New York Presbyterians as well as Dr. Briggs. What does a verdict amount to if it cannot be recorded in the Presbyterian where it will do the most good?

THE Theosophic injunction, "Step out from sunlight into shade to make room for others," will generally be observed during the summer months, but it is not so easy to provide its workings later on.

ROBERT RICHTER, 8 years old, is preaching in New York. Great care should be taken lest this solemn infant should drift into the heresies of the day.

The Sunday and Sabbath Muddle.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Permit me a small space in the columns of your "Forum" to express my sincere thanks to "A Reader" and Mr. McKenzie for the able and conclusive answers to the "Sunday and Sabbath" article in the Biblical Record.

Mr. McKenzie's historical facts this Sunday is a heathen Sabbath, and Mr. McKenzie has equally well shown by the Bible that Sabbath is a sabbath.

Why Mr. McKenzie should search the scriptures to prove that Saturday is the Sabbath of the Jews and a sabbath of the Gentiles is beyond me.

The evidence adduced by "A Reader" is that Saturday is the Sabbath of the Gentiles.

But such acrobatic solutions may be written off if you follow the discourse of our preachers attentively, instead of snoring whilst nodding assent, or critically snoring whilst nodding assent.

They are probably prima facie.

I presume that some member of the mutual admiring society will deliver to you the new "Sunday and Sabbath" article.

The Rev. Mr. McKenzie's article is a very good one, but it is not so good as the one by Mr. Hall.

THE DATE IS FIXED.

Post-Dispatch Prize Winners to Visit the World's Fair.

THE SPECIAL TRAIN WILL LEAVE ST. LOUIS JUNE 26.

8:30 A. M. is the Time of Leaving—The "Two Hundred" and Their Friends Will Be There—The Closing Chapter in an Interesting Series of Contests—Information for Prize Winners.

The details have been arranged, the prize-winners notified—now all that remains to be done is to make the trip to the World's Great Exposition on board the Post-Dispatch special. The train will leave St. Louis at 8:30 a. m., Monday, June 26; returning leave Chicago following Saturday morning.

When the Post-Dispatch special, consisting of five of the Wabash's most comfortable and richly upholstered coaches, drawn by a "mogul," steams away from St. Louis over the big bridge, the closing chapter will have begun in the series of World's Fair contests conducted during the past few months by the Post-Dispatch—the closing chapter of a series of the most popular, interesting and successful contests ever originated and carried through to an auspicious close by any newspaper in this broad land. The prizes which have been distributed during this contest have been in amounts both elegant and costly, many of them far more valuable than the World's Fair trips.

That success should crown this enterprise is not surprising. There is nothing succeeds like success, and "success" is always the magic synonym just beyond the goal through which the Post-Dispatch puts his contestants. Just "ere" "Finis" is written.

Every possible preparation for the comfort and enjoyment of the winners has been made to extend to each winner the privilege of having one to three (not more than three) friends accompany them on the special, if it is so desired. Such additional persons will, on application of winners, be supplied with a special ticket, which will entitle them to honor a first-class round trip ticket to Chicago on the Post-Dispatch special. Notice of extra passengers must be given in writing to the Post-Dispatch Office, 1022 Market Street, for a special ticket and fare for proper accommodations. The coaches must not be crowded to the discomfort of the excursionists.

The Fair is now in its most interesting stage. The wheels of the great machinery are revolving smoothly; everything is new and bright; the fresh air is cool and sweet, the occasion is opportune—the time suits the occasion.

Notice to Prize-Winners.

Holders of orders for World's Fair trips, good at will, with hotel bill paid at the Manhattan, of the World's Fair Hotel and Boarding-Bureau's line of hotels, can, if desired, take advantage of the special trip and go on board the special, notifying us of their orders to June 26, making formal application for ticket. When applying for instance or ticket the order originally sent out from this office must be returned with request. No other order will be taken.

The above applies only to winners of trips good at will.

SPECIAL WINNERS.

The names and addresses of 200 prize winners are recorded at this office. To each of these at time prize was won, an order for number of tickets was issued. Holders of these orders may apply to the office on Friday night, June 26. No tickets will be issued after Friday night, except in case of emergency, unless otherwise directed. Orders delayed in mail, through no fault of sender, The Post-Dispatch will not be responsible for inconveniences or loss resulting from non-delivery of tickets or correspondence. Such rules are made necessary to permit the proper arrangement of a comfortable trip.

All prize-winners, who desire to take advantage of the $15.00 or $20 hotel rate extended by the Post-Dispatch through the World's Fair, should call on that corporation's agent, Mr. Cliff Kennedy, Room 5, 223 Chestnut street, and arrange the details of the trip.

The holders of Post-Dispatch orders good for hotel bill, who desire to go on the special, should notify us at once, so that we notify our agents in Chicago, who will be prepared to accommodate the visitors. The Manhattan has been selected on account of its popularity, and this very popularity makes the provisions necessary.

MISSOURI CROPS.
Great Improvement Noted in the General Situation.

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 13.—Following is the weekly weather crop bulletin of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture:

The rainfall for the week occurred during the first two days, with the exception of a few scattering showers on Saturday. Some localities report no precipitation whatever, but cool nights and heavy dews have done much to cancel all detrimental effects. The temperature averaged considerably above the normal, especially during the last four days, the extreme heat on the southern corn fields, and the sunshine was excessive and in some cases detrimental to the best interests of agriculture. The rapid improvement in vegetation made during the week in all farm areas accordingly. Corn planting is finished except in low or poorly drained localities; the early plant is coming in fine condition. The small fruits are ripening rapidly, though the general prospect for the crop is not the most favorable it is not nearly so bad as last year, when it was slightly injured by high winds and heavy rains in previous weeks and has not fully recovered. Much grass is also reported to have made good sprouts of fine grass accordingly. Corn planting is finished except in low or poorly drained localities; the early plant is coming in fine condition. THE CHINESE LAW.

An Important Decision By Acting Secretary Hamlin.

BOSTON, June 13.—Acting Secretary Hamlin has just made an important decision on the Chinese law. A Chinese laundryman of Wakefield, who has complied with all the conditions of the Geary act, has acquired a competence and wishes to go home to China, see his folks and eventually come back. The question arose as to whether or not he would be allowed to land at any port in the United States on his return. His lawyer wrote to Secretaries of State and received this answer from Secretary Hamlin.

"I have to inform you that a Chinese laborer who has registered under the terms of the Geary act, and comes from the United States will not be permitted to return thereto, as Chinese laborers are prohibited by law from landing in the United States."

Kissed by Eulalia.

CHICAGO, June 13.—While Princess Eulalia was at Jackson Park Saturday afternoon she kissed a little girl—a sweet petite maiden 6 years old. A crowd was waiting to see the Princess as she drove through. Miss Eulalia's mother, the Infanta, stopped her, and when the Infanta's carriage stopped near her, she boldly threw a kiss at the next Queen of Spain, and smiled as if daring Eulalia to return it. The Princess was laughing, and took the little girl in her arms and kissed her repeatedly.

Game Law Applies to Indians.

OTTAWA, Ontario, June 13.—The Indian Department has issued a notice stating that the game laws in force in the Northwest territories shall apply to Indians. This comes without any account of the rapid depopulation of the Indians under treaty in the territories will be affected by the notice. Two exceptions are proposed. Burg Grubb, ex-Minister to Spain, who is now convalescent at her country seat, Edgewater Park, on the banks of the Delaware River, New Jersey, was received in a full-tuxedo on the return of the royal visitor from Chicago. FUENTE MINA DISASTER.

Preliminary Hearing of Supt. George Spencer.

PUEBLO NEGRAS, Mexico, June 13.—Sept. 12, son of Mrs. ERNESTINE, the wife of a farmer in Charles Mix County, was left to care for his 2-year-old half-sister while his mother went to work in a distant garden. During the forenoon the little one cried through fretfulness, and the boy taking a shotgun threatened to kill her unless she ceased. The frightened infant ran screaming behind a wood-box in the rear of the stove and the little miscreant rested his weapon over the edge of the stove and deliberately shot her. Then, reloading the shotgun, hung it on the nail and poked the bleeding body, which he placed in its cradle. After the cradle was soaked with blood, he took the gun and put it in the bed where its parents sound.

To their inquiries he said the child had fallen against the stove and killed itself.

He then took a rope and a rope placed around his neck cause him to vary his story, which he finally did when a neighbor heard him confessing the truth.

He seemed totally void of feelings regarding the little one's death.

THE CARE OF THE INDIAN.

Views of Judge Bottenous—He Advocates a General Change.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—Judge J. B. Bottenous of St. Paul, Minn., who has a large percentage of Indian blood in his veins, and who represents the interests of the Chippewa Indians of Minnesota and North Dakota, is in this city. He has no great opinion of the new league recently organized in New York City for the purpose of aiding the red men and its scheme as to the land question. He thinks visionary. "What we want is to make the Indians self-reliant, the present system of sending Indian children to Eastern schools like Carlisle, Pa. does not good whatever. What the Government should do is to get rid of the reservations. It would be far more humane and beneficial. I endorse heartily the policy of sending Indian army officers as Indian agents. The army men are more familiar with the Indian character, while civilians are not. Besides, an officer of the regular army has a better right to represent and honor to yield to any temptation to treat the wards of the nation with injustice. He could not afford to cheat them or try to use his position to gain any ill-gotten gains."
